JACK AUTOIST DIES AS TRUCK RUNS OFF ROAD

William Clyde Richards, 38, of Route 1, Jack, was killed by a truck which ran off the highway on county road No. 79, just south of New Hope, and overturned at least four times Tuesday at 9:30 p.m.

Richards was buried from the truck 42 feet into the pavement with instant death, according to investigation of J. T. Wambles of the Alabama Highway Patrol.

Wambles said Richards, driving a pulped truck, was traveling alone at the time of the accident. He had just rounded a curve and when he entered a straight stretch he apparently lost control of the steering wheel and ran off the right side of the road into a ditch at an excessive rate of speed. The truck traveled 339 feet after leaving the road.

He leaves a wife and five children in Jack.

New Questions Posed By News Writer As Catholic Runs For President Seat

By Ray Jenkins
City Editor, Ala. Journal

We have come a long way since the Pope-in-the-White House hysteria swept the nation during the 1928 Presidential campaign. And now once again the painful issue of religion in politics is being revived as Senator John Kennedy, Roman Catholic, offers for the Presidency.

Already the national public policy on such subjects as nuclear weapons and disarmament, and the President's religious influence on diplomatic relations with such Catholic countries as Spain and other Latin countries with proclivities for dictatorship.

Since the Church has seen fit to enter the field of censorship, could we be assured that circulation of church — restricted literature will remain unimpaired?

Once, Mr. Kennedy forthrightly answered some of these questions, and was roundly criticized by some of the priests of his church for doing so.

They contended that he had submitted to a religious test, such an attitude, I believe, is totally in error. We might as well prepare to discuss these issues as freely and dispassionately as possible. To do otherwise, the prohibition question is no longer here to cloud the issue, although the Catholic position toward alcohol will no doubt have some effect.

More important, the nature of anti-Catholicism has changed. The Catholicism of the 1920s was a sinister and devious enemy of the people and of Smith was his agent designated to take over America. Assuredly, a certain amount of religious bigotry still exists. But pure bigotry has diminished to the point that it will be at least neutralized by the increase in the number of American Catholics, many of whom would vote for a Catholic solely on the grounds of his religion.

The new brand of anti-Catholicism is the liberal, Eleanor Roosevelt variety. Some once said modern anti-Catholicism is the anti-Semite of the 1950s. This evaluation is not entirely accurate, because the liberal opposition to the Catholic Church is based on religious conflict, rather than on ignorant prejudice. The new breed and others to attend during the summer months. This appeared to me because we realize how scarce camp sites are for club members and others.

Another factor or two will come at the proper time, dozens of club members with corn demonstrations will make the highest yield per acre in several years. County Agent Speed and I noticed a lot of corn on our trip to Mobile last week, but none surpassed corn here in Coffee County. In fact, after traveling across the lower part of the state we were well pleased with corn prospects for Coffee county farmers.

Then there is the question of the appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican. I have always felt that such a move, at worst, is only a minor infraction of our church-state separation provisions. But people — notably Baptists — who are quite concerned with this question and they are entitled to an answer.

The Birch Central Question. We have a right to know whether the religious conviction of a Catholic President would prevent the administration of his office to the best interests of all the people. Often times, what is in a Catholic is perfectly compatible with Protestant and Jewish religion.

We might ask, for example, if a Catholic President would appoint a secretary of Health, Education and Welfare who was a Jew? Or a secretary of Defense who was a Protestant? Or a secretary of State who was a Catholic? Or a secretary of Treasury who was a Jew? Or a secretary of Agriculture who was a Protestant? SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By T. C. Self and Joe Wildman, S.C.S.

Soil Conservation personnel ran 35 acres parallel terraces on J. S. Daniels farm in the spring of 1959. I talked to Mr. Daniels recently and he is well pleased.

A local contractor smoothed the fields with a bulldozer before any attempt was made to run terraces and lay out the waterways. There were two fields containing 35 acres with a complete terrace and waterway system.

The land was more rolling than the average, however, a good set of terraces were installed. After the terraces and waterways were laid out by the SCS, the contractor built the terraces and shaped the waterways with a motor patrol.

Mr. Daniels said he now has more land to cultivate than before and it is a lot more convenient with parallel terraces. He states he doesn't have to bother with turning out in the middle of the field and destroying much of his crop. Mr. Daniels is so well pleased with his terraces, he wants to terrace the remainder of his farm.

We feel a good percentage of farmers in west Coffee are doing a pretty good job of soil and water conservation.

The Happy Fisherman

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	2 Kings	5	15-27
Monday	Revelation	20	1-15
Tuesday	Revelation	21	1-14
Wednesday	Revelation	21	15
Thursday	2 Chronicles	17	1-19
Friday	2 Chronicles	19	1-11
Saturday	2 Chronicles	20	1-19

There was a fellow at the plant who was always asking me to go with him to church.

In a way this picture portrays his zeal. For there was something boyishly enthusiastic about his eagerness; something joyously genuine in his confidence.

And his fervor reminded one of the disciples of old who became "fishers of men."

Well, he brought my family to church. Not because he was a salesman or a saint. Simply because he encouraged us to seek the convictions he was so eager to share.

Betty and I, and little Ricky, really owe our cherished faith to the moment that fellow at the plant said, "I'LL STOP BY YOUR PLACE ON SUNDAY MORNING."

Now, we too, find happiness in bringing our friends and neighbors to church.

clings to curves like a cat on a carpet!

the travel-lovin' Chevrolet

Nothing else but a dyed-in-the-wool sports car like the Corvette can take a turn with such solid assurance!

It's easy to see where Chevrolet gets its road sense. With big coil springs at every wheel, a firm, wider stance and all of its pounds distributed with painstaking care, Chevy's born with it.

The only thing that may be hard to understand is how it can offer the ride it does, along with so many other luxury-car virtues, and still complete in the low-price field.

We use the word complete only in the sense of price. For with a ride as special as Chevy's, real competitors are hard to come by. There's a world of difference between Chevrolet's coil springs at all four wheels and the leaf springs that most other cars still use. Take a Chevy down a snaky back road and you'll feel the difference in the sure way it holds through curves and shoots over rough spots with hardly a ripple.

This one's really made to travel and loves every minute of it.

Stop by your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's and sample Chevy's road sense!

Student Guidance: Tests and Testing

By Dr. Edward C. Roeber

Have you ever been caught in a situation where you would like to have a quick, easy solution to your problem? If you have, you are very much like the rest of us.

If you would like to see what parents sometimes want, you might be interested in reading the mail of a vocational counselor.

"We have a boy who isn't doing so well in school. We were wondering if you would test him. Maybe tests would help him and..."

"Do you give that test which tells a person what he is best suited for?"

"Could we have an appointment for testing? We don't have much time. Could you do it in an hour some morning?"

"I've been out of college for ten years and am beginning to wonder whether I ought to."

"Could you help us settle an argument? My husband thinks our seventh grade daughter is real bright. I think she is just a good normal youngster. Could you give her an I.Q. test so he'll stop bragging about his genius?"

One thing stands out in each request. All of them feel that tests would in some way solve their problems in a hurry.

Some tests are directly related to vocational guidance. Other tests are helpful but only indirectly related to career planning.

The beginning of standardized tests go back a good many years. The first test was designed to help pick out children who needed a special kind of training. Both World Wars gave a push to the development of testing. Today there are hundreds of tests, testing to measure a wide variety of human characteristics.

Intelligence, achievement, aptitude, personality, achievement in skills or school subjects, mechanical reasoning, social relations, clerical aptitude, and many others.

Tests are only tools. They can be used by the amateur, confining both students and parents. Or they can be used by the professionally trained person, enabling him to help both students and parents.

Ordinarily students and parents expect too much from tests. What then are some of the things which parents should know about testing?

Tests at best are only samples of what a person can do or how he feels about something. A test of how well one can do arithmetic cannot cover every possible arithmetic problem. In building such a test, it is necessary to pick out a few arithmetic problems which separate those that know something from those that know very little about arithmetic.

If a test is a sample, it is important to remember that a sample may not always show a student's skill with arithmetic. The sample for some reason or other may be a poor one for some student.

On the other hand, if several similar tests show the same result, we can have more faith in the samples and especially if the same trend continues over a period of time.

Interest inventories, when given to an adolescent, are good examples of tests which can show abrupt changes. A very unusual experience may cause a drastic change in a student's interests and test results.

The way in which tests are given to groups of students may also have something to do with the results. A student's attitude toward intelligence tests may cause scores to differ from time to time. Students may "chuckle" when given this type of test. Some may not want to take the test in the first place. These are just a few of the problems to be considered when trying to make sense from test scores.

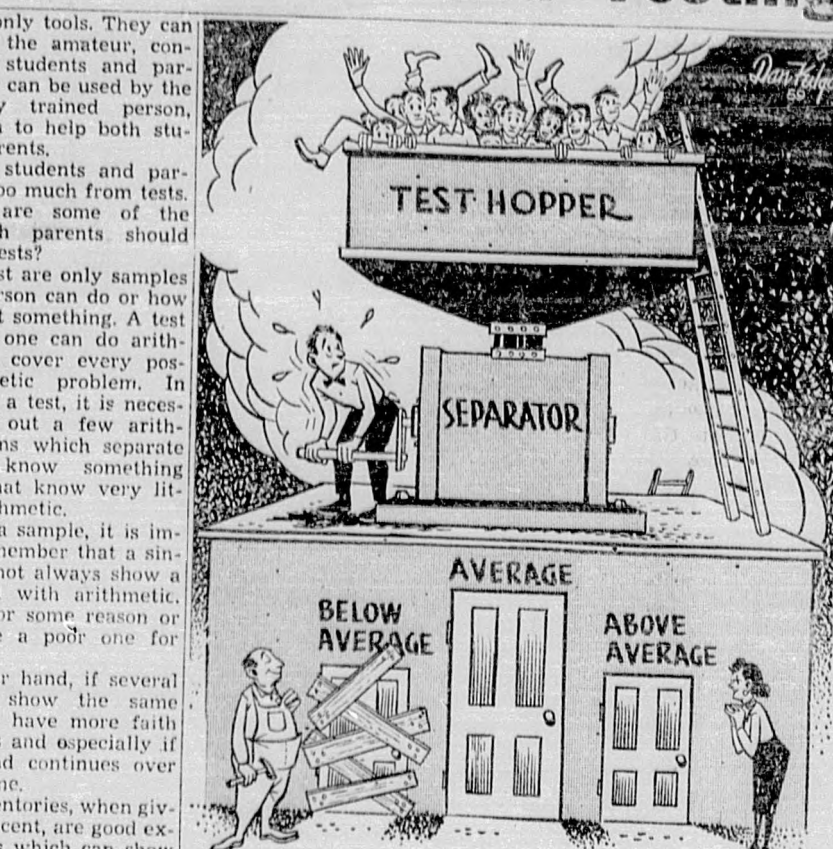

Tests never make decisions for anyone. They merely give bits of information which have to be viewed in the light of previous experiences. The value of a college aptitude test is increased when it is compared with school marks. Test results and school marks may or may not agree. In either case, the test results become meaningful for students as they have a chance to talk them over with a counselor or a teacher with special training and skills.

Interpreting tests is tricky and their results are all too often overlooked by students and parents. This "talking it over" gives meaning to the tests. For this reason, the mailing of test results to students should be accompanied by explanation. Not until someone takes time to check once again in the tenth grade do they discover that another test gave different results—and there is no magic in the results of a single test of any kind.

These are but a few of the common errors which students and parents make when given tests. They forget there are a lot of average people in the world. And many of them are very important responsible people. This attitude is probably correct when the school does not provide counseling or specially skilled teachers who can help them get meanings from tests.

Testing will become effective when the schools of America do not provide counseling or specially skilled teachers who can help them get meanings from tests.

Sometimes parents forget that test results may vary over a period of time. Johnny's parents found out that his I.Q. was "only 95" when he was in the fourth grade and his was in the fourth

The importance of counseling grew way out of proportion to its value. They even made the average range Johnny was treated from that time on like a test result to students. He even began to believe it himself. Wedding Party Is Entertained At Luncheon

The members of the Lowery-Kalec wedding party were graciously entertained Saturday, June 13, when Mr. and Mrs. John Daniel Lowery Sr. were hosts at a luncheon at Padgett's.

The long banquet table was covered in white and marked by a runner of wide green satin ribbon. Low four branched silver candelabra held two green and two white candles, whose flames flickered above the deep lavender loveliness of the perennial peas that were placed along the ribbon. Beautifully inscribed place cards held sprays of bridal flowers.

The private dining room at Ingram's Restaurant in Troy was the setting for the pre-wedding dinner given for the members of their sons wedding party by Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon Kalec.

The bride wore a sheath of white retrimmed in brown.

is the size of a Government Post Card, by actual measurement. To mail this card to 1,000 families would cost $30.00 for the card and postage alone. To print a message on the back would cost, on the average, $7.50 per thousand. Addressing would cost another $5.00 per thousand.

That's a total of $42.50 to send a postcard advertisement to a thousand families.

Yet this space in The Elba Clipper costs a regular advertiser only $6.30. It reaches almost twice as many families. That advertiser's money helps The Elba Clipper to serve a subscriber at only a fraction of the cost of a subscription if the newspaper had no advertising.

To sum up: The advertisement reaches more people at one-seventh the cost and the advertiser serves every subscriber because he enables The Elba Clipper to supply the news at less cost.

THE ELBA CLIPPER

Through the Keyhole

BY MRS. ROBERT CANNON

THE AIR WAS SOFT and warm and the world a sunny place last Sunday, June 14, when Janice Dean Lowery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Daniel Lowery Sr., became the bride of Mr. Donald Gordon Kalee, son of Mr. James Gordon Kalee of Nokomis, Fla., and Mrs. Roy Jordan of Bradenton, Fla.

Promptly at two o'clock, Mr. James Patinos began a program of nuptial music, which included the wedding march from Mendelssohn, Mrs. Norman Johns sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" as a benediction.

The Rev. Murray L. Seay performed the ceremony against a lovely background. In the baptistry window a gigantic fan shaped arrangement of white gladioli, caryophylls and satin ribbon highlighted the cathedral candelabra flanking a white wrought iron arch entwined with greenery and satin ribbon. White candelabra encircled the altar, which was centered with a satin covered prie-dieu and created an atmosphere of coolness. Satin streamers marked the family pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gownned in ivory pout-de-soie and rose-point lace. The empire waistline was outlined in the lace which formed the bodice and long sleeves. The pout-de-soie skirt fell into inverted pleats at the front and in the back the lace empire waistline dipped slightly to form a wattleau which flowed into the chapel train.

Janice's face veil of illusion edged in lace held a sentimental value having been worn by two of her friends. White slacks and cascading ribbons on a small white Bible were her flowers. Her jewelry was a platinum engraved diamond on a fine chain, gift of the groom, and a bracelet of matched pearls, gift of her brother.

Mrs. James Puckard of Calera, Ala., was Matron of Honor. She wore a dress of twilight blue pink silk organza over matching tulle, fashioned with Sabrina neckline, cap sleeves and a bias fold to outline the empire waistline, matching shoes and a picture hat of lilac net adorned with beaded orange blossoms completed her costume.

Miss Jennie Jordan, sister of the groom, of Bradenton, Fla., and Miss Dorothy Lee Gibbons of Pensacola, Fla., were bridesmaids. They wore gown like the Matron of Honor except in pale gold organza.

Miss Beverly Rainer served as Maid of Honor; she also wore pale gold silk organza over tulle, fashioned on empire lines with tiny seed bows marking the bodice. Her picture hat of organza was crowned with daisies to match her bouquet.

Little Miss Courtney Vann Cannon was the Flower Girl. Her dress was of twilight blue pink organza over tulle and was styled with puffed sleeves, a short V neck and a crushed skirt which tied in a bow at the back of the short bouffant skirt. Her hat, a small circle of the same material with miniature roses scattered over the brim, tied under the chin with organza streamers. She carried a basket of flower petals.

Master "Boots" Crook acted as Ring Bearer. He wore a white linen coat and dark slacks and carried the wedding ring on a white satin pillow adorned with ribbon and lily of the valley.

Mr. Kalee was attended by Mr. John Dan Lowery, II, brother of the bride and Mr. Ed Black of Montgomery, who served as groomsmen and candlelighter. Mr. James Gordon Kalee served his son as Best Man.

For the marriage of her only daughter, Mrs. Lowery wore a dress of cloud blue chiffon over tulle, the fashion feature being a burst of pleats at the side waistline, which ran across the bodice to the square neckline and extended across the bodice to the hem. Three large seed roses accentuated the waist and were repeated at the back of the matching picture hat. Her flowers were white carnations.

Mrs. Jordan wore a beige linen sheath of broadened in satin threads. Her hat was of delicate rose as was her carnation corsage.

After the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Lowery entertained at a reception at their home on Reddock Hill Road. The bride's table was covered in white or sandy lace over pink and centered with two tall candles. A tiered wedding cake encircled in a ruffle of net, banded in satin was placed at one end of the table. At the other was a punch bowl encircled by a net ruffle filled with lavender aspers and accessories. Silver compotes held mints and nuts. At the bride's register a large fan shaped arrangement of deep rose carnations and pinks of net complemented the fan shaped arrangement of
